

Question: Would your school allow a Dodge Ball Tournament as a fundraiser?

Our student council is currently planning one for March.

We have done this in the past, but have since stopped because of some behavior issues. The paperwork, such as getting signed waivers from all participants, also got to be quite cumbersome. We have replaced this with a movie night in the gym, which has been much easier to organize and just as successful.

The Niles West and Niles North IMPACT clubs organized a District 219-dodgeball tournament that was EXTREMELY popular. So, yes, we would and have...

We are discussing this issue as we speak. We're kind of uncomfortable giving permission. I will update.

Walt Williams - Glenbard South

Yes, I think, if properly supervised, we would allow a Dodgeball Tourney.

Pat Buchenot - Lake Park

I think we would. We currently have a very large dodge ball tournament as part of our intramural program....very popular!

NO. At Reavis

Not at this time...students did ask but we decided against it. Our local Park District does host them though.

Geneva High School is hosting a Dodge Ball tournament this Friday night to benefit the Tsunami Relief Fund. We have 15 teams signed up - one faculty and one the city council! Players pay $5 and we will charge $1 for spectators. Student Council and Key Club are organizing a bake and refreshment sale during the event (pop and water were donated). We will also be showing the movie in the cafeteria.

We had packets available in the main office that included permission slips for each player to get signed by parents.

Everyone is excited about it - I've even received calls from the community wanting to play. We decided to keep it a school event.

This was talked about last year as a club fundraiser at BHS. The administration would allow a club to sponsor this activity. (Supervision, a school nurse or athletic trainer on hand was also included in the discussion)

To date, no club has gone forward with this activity.

Hope this helps!

We have a board policy against dodge ball. Which is a shame because I love the game. - Rick Johnson East Aurora

Christine Cole - Latin School Yes. We are doing one this weekend for a charity fundraiser for tsunami relief

Student asked for a Dodge Ball Intramural program, but at this time we are not pursuing the idea. Today, I was at Bartlett High School and saw a flyer for Dodge Ball.
